
Quality Policy

As a customer-focused organization, we commit to build lasting relationships and to provide superior products and services to our customers.

As a company, we believe in and require individual and organizational commitment to the quality management principles of customer satisfaction, continuous improvement, process management, and employee involvement.

As employees, we endeavor to provide our customers timely, innovative solutions while managing the technical complexity and quality compliance in our partnerships. We do this through teamwork, process improvement, and technical excellence.

We also commit to develop, produce, and deliver services and solutions that comply with all applicable requirements while meeting or exceeding the customers' needs and expectations for performance, reliability, and safety over the long term. Trusted Semiconductor Solutions' quality system is registered to AS9100 and is documented in the Trusted Semiconductor Solutions Quality Manual.
